We do NOT actively collect user data or id. Android and Google Play, however, may collect some information such as crash data information.

We don’t require users to sign-in or collect any sensitive info from their device for our use. We do use services such as Google play console that may collect some information for crashes.